

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—There are about 850,000 homeless people in Europe, living in displaced person's camps in Germany, Austria, Italy.

The camps—run by the American and British armies in their zones of occupation—mean a place to stay, something to eat, but no jobs.

The displaced persons are people of many nations. Perhaps 250,000 of 850,000 are Jews. About 550,000 are in American camps.

The United Nations considers them an international responsibility. And pretty soon UN's international refugee organization will run the camps.

Through fear, or some other reason, these people don't want to go back to their own countries.

But where can they go? What can they do? How can they get their lives straightened out and start over again? Can this country take some of them?

A proposal to do just that has been made in congress by Rep. Stratton, Illinois Republican.

Last April he offered a bill to let 400,000 of the 850,000 displaced persons into this country at the rate of 100,000 a year for four years.

This week a house subcommittee started hearings on the bill. At this moment the change of congress does much about it this year seem slim.

The hearings will go on for about two weeks and, probably, not much more than that will happen. A vote in house or senate seems unlikely.

There's a good deal of opposition, inside and outside congress, to letting displaced persons come here.

To understand what Stratton proposes, here's an explanation of the immigration set-up:

We have a quota on immigration. Which means we'll let in only a certain number of immigrants from European countries in any one year.

The total quota per year is about 154,000. The number of immigrants coming here every year from Europe falls much below that figure yearly.

To get in, an immigrant must meet certain requirements, such as intelligence, health, morality.

And, before coming here, an immigrant must have enough money to support himself or have here a relative or some organization which will see that he does not become a public charge.

In December, 1945, President Truman told American officials in Europe to help speed up immigration to this country of displaced persons.

But since then, according to the immigration service, only about 15,000 displaced persons have been allowed in.

Stratton wants 100,000 a year for four years let in but only provided they fill the same requirements as other immigrants.

(These 100,000 displaced persons a year would be in addition to the 154,000 quota immigrants).

Stratton, and some others share his belief, does not think 100,000 displaced persons a year would create an employment of housing problem.

Opponents of Stratton's bill dispute that idea. And they argue in the words of Rep. Gossett (D-Tex): There are a lot of "trouble-makers in the camps, crackpots and communists."

Stratton says it's costing American taxpayers now about $182,000,000 a year to take care of displaced persons in American camps abroad.

He says letting in 400,000 would save money.

followed by the completion of her schooling in the city of Washington.

Christian Science first came to her family in the Philippine Islands while her father, Lieut. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, was Military Governor, following his command of the international forces in China during the Boxer Rebellion, and prior to his becoming Chief of Staff of the United States Army. Mrs. Elwell became a member of The Mother Church in 1913.

She was for five years assistant superintendent of The Mother Church Sunday School, and for four years a member of the Christian Science Bible lesson committee. Mrs. Elwell has just completed a term of three years' service as second reader in The Mother Church.

The directors' and the Mother Church president's remarks highlighted one of the largest annual meetings in years, with members of the Church in session from various parts of the world. From California, England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa came reports of a growing resurgence in religious activities.

William D. Kilpatrick, Manager of Committees on Publication, reported:

Today, only one of the 48 states fails legally to recognize Christian Science as a healing medium. Mr. Kilpatrick added, "That one state is Ohio," he said. Since the 1946 annual meeting, he pointed out, West Virginia and Maryland have passed laws legally recognizing the right of Christian Science practice.

In California, passage of an Unemployment Disability Benefits law gave to Christian Science practitioners the same right as physicians to certify to the disability of persons under treatment.

Resignation of Dr. Welch

Those who are in a position to know of the progress made by the city-county health department here have learned, with real regret, of the leaving of Dr. Brent A. Welch, who as head of this important department, has brought about some real accomplishments in health work throughout Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

The announcement made here Thursday that Dr. Welch had decided to accept the health commissionership of Miami County at a substantial increase in salary, in order to be near his former home where his and his wife's aged parents are living, brought a definite sense of loss to the community to those who have watched this health department emerge from a rather weak and spineless organization to one of real effectiveness and progress.

This change has come about during the little more than a year in which Dr. Welch has been in charge, gradually but definitely, without bombastic efforts. The diplomacy, tact and firmness displayed by Dr. Welch as health commissioner has won cooperation of doctors and public to a degree not thought possible about 16 months ago. He deserves the many nice things being said about him here by those who recognize what he has been able to do.

We are indeed sorry to see Dr. Welch leave but congratulate Miami County upon securing such a sincere and able public servant.

We sincerely hope that those who are charged with the future welfare of the city-county health department here will be able to obtain some one else for this position in the future who will be able to carry on with the effectiveness which the department has shown in the last year.

Unfair Criticism

Without giving proper thought to what is actually transpiring in our Ohio General Assembly and in congress, too many people are inclined to pass hasty criticism on the activities of these bodies without any study of what they are doing or trying to do.

This seems to be the day of rampant censure, oftentimes based on mere propaganda, without due regard for purposes or facts.

It is quite common to hear people who voted for the present Republican congress and a Republican legislature show impatience in condemning their representatives because new legislation which they favored is not rushed through roughshod. Especially is this true of tax and labor law revision.

Seldom, if ever, have these legislative bodies been faced with as hard a task or have been subject to more vicious activities of pressure groups. All this must be overcome in putting proper legislation across, and in the case of congress, the opposition of President Truman and his New Deal advisers, has made the work all the more difficult and complicated.

Recently Governor Thomas Herbert was heard to say that after long years of "rubber stamp" legislation in Washington it is refreshing to see the congress take enough time to make sure that the wrong kind of hastily drawn labor legislation and other measures does not result. There are three branches of government in Washington and in Ohio, the governor stated, and it is good to see the legislative branch exercising its rights. Too often the chief executive has dominated all three branches of government in Washington, he said. Poor legislation and dictatorial legislation often is the result.

All of us want to see the legislature put "first things first" and complete its program at the earliest possible date, but we do not want haste to bring forth a hodge-podge of legislative enactment.

We believe most people are in accord with the views of Gov. Herbert and congressional leaders, that we should not trade so-called "leadership" for "rubber stamp" legislation. We agree with him that the three branches of government each have their rightful function and that it isn't the governor's job to force his views too heavily upon the legislature.

No More Poison Ivy

June is the month of brides, roses—and poison ivy. Let's have all the brides and roses possible, but no more poison ivy. Last year Berkeley, Cal., waged a successful campaign against the vine by using a chemical weed spray. Women's club members, boy scouts, newspapers and radio stations backed up the enterprise. Council passed an ordinance permitting city officials to use the spray on the pest in private property and to charge the owners. The result was that there were few citizens in that California city with the miserable itchy blisters that the beautiful poison ivy's three-leafed foliage gives to the susceptible.

Since it has been estimated that a quarter of a million persons are poisoned yearly by this ivy, other cities would do well to follow the Berkeley program. The first step is to know what poison ivy is—usually a vine, sometimes a low shrub, but always of three shiny leaves that are smooth-edged or notched. The three droop a little, in a sort of umbrella shape. Patches of it should be located and marked for the spray treatment. A word of caution for handling the dead vine after the chemical is applied: Do not burn it. Smoke from it is extremely poisonous. Bury the corpse! Use a spade, and clean the spade with earth. Don't touch the ivy or anything it touches.

The Causes of a Backache

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN a patient with backache goes to the doctor, he wants his pain relieved. What he sometimes does not realize is that this cannot be done without a lot of preliminary tests and questions.

These are necessary because backache is only a symptom and one which is connected with so many different disorders that only the most careful and complete study will reveal the underlying cause. Until this is found any attempt at treatment is like trying to hit a bull's eye in a blackout. The doctor must know the history of the pain, that is, when it started, whether an injury produced it, whether the pain passes from one part of the back to another, whether it is made worse by sneezing or coughing, and whether it is more severe at one time of the day than at another, or gets worse on cold, wet days.

Sudden Backache
The most common cause of sudden backache is some disorder which produces fever, such as influenza or a cold. However, such backache usually clears up when these infections disappear.

A break or a dislocation in the bones of the spine will, of course, produce pain in the back. These conditions are as a rule easy to diagnose by means of an X-ray of the spine and a history of some injury. Another cause for backache is osteomyelitis of one of the bones in the spine or an infection of the bone marrow. In this disorder, fever is always present. An X-ray is helpful in making the diagnosis. This condition is treated surgically.

Tuberculosis of the spine does not occur as frequently as it used to.

The Sciatic Nerve.
Injury or inflammation of the sciatic nerve which runs down the back part of the leg may cause muscle spasm in the back as well as pain down the leg. Defects of the spine present at birth may cause backache in some cases. Dr. Torrance has found that treatment of these patients by injection of thiamine or vitamin B-1 into a vein often gives prompt relief. An effort should also be made to find infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body, and if any are found they should be cleared up.

There are other causes for backache such as damage to the cartilage disks between the bones of the spine, arthritis of the spine, and disturbances within the abdomen. With these many causes for backache, it is evident that the problem of finding the source is not always a simple one. The backache should not be neglected for it may go from bad to worse.

THE HILLS AHEAD
The hills ahead look hard and steep and high,
And often we behold them with a sigh;
But as we near them level grows the road,
We find on every slope, with every load,
The climb is not so steep, the top so far,
The hills ahead look harder than they are.

And so it is with troubles, though they seem so great
That men complain and fear and hesitate,
Less difficult the journey than we dreamed,
It never proves as hard as once it seemed;
There never comes a hill, a task, a day,
But as we near it, easier the way.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE
JOHN WINSTON was president of the First National Bank, as his father had been before him. It was an institution that had stood for dignity and permanence since Eighteen Hundred and Seventy. Its walls were of granite, its front columned, and he never went into it or left it, without a proud sense of its stability. It had weathered the storm of 'twenty-nine and 'thirty, put out its strong arm to pull smaller banks through, and the numerous industries that were the life-stream of the city.

He had the same feeling of stability about his home, four square and of granite, too, on Ardmore Avenue, a street more conservative than Oak Avenue. Everything inside his house had a look of permanence. Like himself, his wife was averse to discarding old furnishings with the coming of every new style.

But this evening, on entering it, he was instantly aware that something very out of the usual had happened. He encountered Page in the hall. She had just come down the stairs, to go out. She gave him the briefest of greetings, went swiftly past him and through the door. But he had seen the whiteness of her face, the frightened look in her eyes. He went up the stairs to find her mother.

He found her sitting bolt upright and forward on a chair in their bedroom, her hands pressed against her diaphragm as though she had difficulty in breathing. "What's happened?"

"It's Page! Oh, John, I'm so glad you've come!" Mrs. Winston's story poured from her, trembling lips. "It's unbelievable! She's told that Kent man that she will marry him! That newspaper man, who was coming here for a while! And I thought there was nothing to it, that Page saw what he was like! But no, they've been meeting, for dinner and luncheon. And at the same time he's been having an affair with Diane Arden! Bill's wife! Page refused to believe that! John, I can't understand it! I can't understand Page! She won't talk about it. I've tried all day to argue with her, make her realize that she's throwing herself away and she simply stands in front of me, not even listening! She's gone to meet him now! I couldn't stop her!"

John Winston said, bewilderedly: "She didn't look so happy, going to meet him!" Thinking of that first.

Tears began to run down Mrs. Winston's cheeks. "She isn't! Oh, I don't understand! She's never acted like this before! She promised him before we went away and she never hinted of it, all the while we were gone! She seemed perfectly contented!"

Then John Winston remembered his recent indignation at Rufus Kent and the Post. He thundered: "The fellow's radical! Who knows who he is?"

Page's mother and father, after their dinner, retired to their room to his mother, who called the Lake County sheriff's office.

Bobby Soxers Excluded From Abortion Trial
DAYTON, June 6 — (AP) — Through an order issued by Common Pleas Judge Calvin Crawford this morning, the bobby sox crowd is excluded from the abortion case trial now in its fourth day with the jury completed. The jurors visited the house in Northridge adjacent to Dayton, where the abortions are alleged to have been performed.

to continue their consideration of what they must do. John Winston's face was creased deeply with perplexity. He could not understand this rash decision of Page's, any more than her mother could. He wholly agreed with her mother that Page must be saved from its consequences.

"He's a nobody!" cried Mrs. Winston, for the hundredth time. "Where did Page meet him?" demanded John Winston, not for the first time.

"At Bill's wedding. Bill knew him in college. But that doesn't make him any more possible! John, I tell you—I know—a mother knows—" But she did not tell him what she knew; some decency stirred in her breast in time to silence her.

"We might talk to Bill about it," suggested Mr. Winston. "Perhaps he'd talk to Kent."

"I'll talk to Bill. He'll be as disturbed as we are, for Page always has been like a sister to him. I'm going to telephone to him now and ask him to come over. It'll be doing something more than sitting and talking about it!"

She got up and, breathing a little heavily, went to the telephone. She spoke briefly over it. "Bill, it's Mrs. Winston. Can you come over for a few minutes? It's very important!"

She turned from the telephone to see Mr. Winston sitting with his head forward, his hands spread, one over each knee.

"We must act very slowly on this, Emily. The less we talk about it to Page just now the better. She knows how you feel and she will know I feel the same way. She always has been very considerate and thoughtful of us—a good girl. Give it time, wait—"

"Wait," echoed Mrs. Winston shrilly and looked for a moment as though she would shake this man who counseled waiting. But she sank down into a chair. "I'll talk to Bill! And I shall drop a hint to him of what Diane is up to with that man! It's a perfectly good saying that where there's smoke there's fire, even if Page won't believe it." She brightened under a sudden inspiration. "I'll prove it to Page."

Mr. Winston said, a little sharply: "You are not thinking of private detectives or anything like that?"

"They won't be necessary as long as Sadie Poole is covering society in this town! She picks up gossip here and there and puts it in that column of hers. Oh, not any offensive gossip, but she's trained herself to find it and she knows everything! And it happens she's indebted to me. I got her into that closed meeting of the D. A. R. last spring. A word to her—"

"Emily, such a procedure is distinctly distasteful to me!"

"But if it is to Page's interest?"

A Letter from Washington

WASHINGTON — The "Class of 1947" of one of the capital's most select institutions—the "CC School"—has been graduated with circumstances and humor.

The "CC School," says the class president, Mrs. Leroy Johnson, wife of the Republican congressman from California, may stand for "Congressional Cuties, or Cantankerous Cronies." It is the rather informally conducted Congressional Club school. The club's members, wives of U. S. senators and representatives, are the pupils.

Diplomas were awarded in public speaking, bowling, hat-making, bridge and "health-exercising."

Mrs. Clifford Davis, wife of the Democratic representative from Tennessee, and president of the Congressional Club, inaugurated the school.

Exhibitions of the work of the hat-making and health-exercise groups created the most excitement and stimulated considerable hilarity.

Glamorous Mrs. John Davis Lodge, wife of the Republican representative from Connecticut, was teacher of the latter group. She was a professional dancer before her marriage.

Mrs. Wesley D'Ewart, wife of the Republican representative from Montana, was cited for "extreme devotion to duty under exercise in spite of considerable risk to life and limb."

The prize in hat making went to chic and attractive Mrs. Robert A. Grant, wife of the Republican representative from Indiana for her creation the "Aleman Sombrero," a big straw number with three balloons moored to the peaked crown.

Mrs. Robert F. Rich, wife of the Republican representative from Pennsylvania, exhibited her "Cute Katie," a large-handled tea strainer with yellow flowers and ribbons.

Mrs. Ralph Church, wife of the Republican representative from Illinois, and speech teacher, awarded a scholarship to Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of Gen. Romulo of the Philippines, delegate to the United Nations. Mrs. Romulo, who was class "valedictorian" said the whole thing will come as a surprise to her husband, who didn't know she was studying speech.

Mrs. Charles R. Clason, wife of the Republican representative from Massachusetts, teacher of the bridge class, awarded a prize to Mrs. William Hess, wife of the Republican representative from Ohio.

The class poem was given by Mrs. Aime Forand, wife of the Democratic representative from Rhode Island and she also walked off with the bowling prize for an average score of 85 and a top single score of 113.

A new semester of the "CC Club" begins immediately with classes in interior decorating, old glass flower arrangements and wild flower gardening.

Burr-Wilson Wedding Vows Read Thursday

Grace Methodist Church was the scene of an informal wedding Thursday evening at seven o'clock, beautiful in its simplicity, when Miss Norma Jean Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burr of near Bloomingburg, became the bride of Mr. Samuel Wilson, son of Mr. Russell Wilson and the late Mrs. Wilson of near Dayton, and a grandson of the late Mrs. Sally Welty of this city, with whom he made his home.

A half hour of music preceded the nuptial service, presented by Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, vocalist, and Miss Marian Christopher at the organ. Mrs. Fennig's selections included "Always," Irving Berlin, "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs Bond and "Because," D'Harlot, and Miss Christopher's numbers were "Liebestraum," "Love's Greeting," Elgar, and the traditional wedding marches.

Reverend Allan W. Caley officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with vases of pink and white peonies and tall baskets of mock orange blossoms.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father, and was wearing a white tulle lined suit, fashioned with a ripple back jacket, with white half hat with a short circular veil, pink gloves and carried a white Bible, topped with a single purple orchid.

She was attended by Miss Ruth Engle as bridesmaid, who was wearing a pastel blue suit, combined with white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. William Lucas, Jr., of this city, was best man for the groom. Ushers seating the sixty guests, made up of the immediate families and intimate friends of the couple were Mr. William Burr and Mr. Robert Morris, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception for the wedding party and guests was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony, with Mrs. Burr, receiving the guests in a blue print crepe dress, with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table, centered with the two tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked with vases of pink roses, was softly lighted with tall white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Mrs. Robert Morris presided and was assisted by Misses Helen and Mary Lou Burr.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 829 Millwood Avenue.

The new Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Washington High School, attended Ohio State University, and for the past year has been a teacher in the Milledgeville School.

The groom attended Washington High School, entering the armed forces before graduation, where he spent two and one half years in the European Theater of War. He is now employed at Wright Field, Dayton, where he is a rocket test operator.

Ushers seating the guests will be Mr. Earl Deering of this city, Mr. Edward Sheridan of Worthington, Mr. John Davies and Mr. John Kapianski, both of Cleveland.

A half hour of music preceding the wedding will be presented by Miss Marian Christopher, organist, Miss Betty Peterson, vocalist and Mr. DeWitt Thornton, pianist.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for invited guests will be given at the Washington Country Club by the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade will also entertain the wedding party with a dinner Friday evening at seven o'clock at their home, preceding the rehearsal.

Missionary Circle Was Hostess To Cradle Roll

The Woman's Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church held their regular meeting in the church home Wednesday afternoon, which was combined with a party honoring the "Cradle Roll" of the church and their mothers. Summer flowers were used profusely to decorate the rooms.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Velma Colleen, president, opened with group singing "Work For The Night Is Coming," followed with prayer by Mrs. W. H. Wilson. Mrs. Margaret Hurtt was in charge of the devotionals, using as her topic, "God's Extras." The usual reports closed the meeting.

Mrs. L. B. Rodgers, who presented the program, opened with a talk on "Burmese Mothers and Their Babies," telling how hard they worked to get a hospital, which was erected a short time before the war, and also of how mothers, after becoming Christians, were better able to care for their children.

Two little girls, Nancy and Margaret Ann Hurtt, sang "I'll Be A Sunbeam," accompanied by their sister, Patty Hurtt, to close the program.

This was followed with a social hour, and the serving of dainty refreshments, featuring a pink and white color scheme, the guests seated at one long table, covered with a lovely white cloth and an arrangement of pink and white painted daisies, used as the centerpiece.

Hostesses for the lovely event were Mrs. J. R. Robinson, Mrs. Daisy Murdock and Mrs. Helen Campbell.

Society Enjoys Annual Luncheon

Mrs. Amy Wiley very graciously extended hospitalities to the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Church of Christ, at the home of Mr. Arthur Robinette, for the annual June luncheon on Thursday. The home was tastefully decorated with spring flowers.

A long lace covered table, centered with a watergarden of flowers in pastel shades was used for serving the delicious repast and the members found their places at several small tables throughout the rooms.

The president, Mrs. Ruth Belles, was in charge of the business meeting during which it was announced that the society had reached their goal for the year. Mrs. Fannie Maddux was in charge of the impressive devotionals, during which Mrs. Wiley sang a solo, "India," accompanied by Mrs. Ione McAllister. This period was closed with prayer.

Mrs. Belles also conducted the program which was devoted to the close of the study of "India." She was assisted by Mrs. Sherman Hidy and Mrs. Bernice Duckwall, who read articles on the subject, and at the close, Mrs. Belles read a quotation from a noted Christian Indian, "The water of life must be offered to Indian in an Indian cup," and closed the program with prayer.

Fewer Persons Seeking Work In This City

145 Persons Drawing Unemployment Pay On June 1

A continued reduction in the number of applicants to the Ohio State Employment Service seeking employment here during the month of May shows the healthy condition of business in Washington C. H., the OSES said today, speaking through the Chamber of Commerce.

During May, only 238 people had registered for employment. The registration during April was 250. Both April and May showed decided reductions in applications under the preceding months.

The OSES reported that on May 1, 207 people were drawing unemployment compensation through the office here, while on June 1, only 145 were doing so. Of the figure for May, 93 of the people were veterans drawing Servicemen's Readjustment Allowances, while in April, 131 veterans were drawing this allowance.

In May, the OSES placed 75 workers in jobs on applications from 50 employers. A break-down of this figure shows 28 placed on construction jobs; 29 on manufacturing jobs and 18 in other kinds of work.

The OSES said that the sweet corn planting has been very late this year because of the continued rains and so far only 10 percent of the plantings have been made to date. The OSES pointed out that this year the biggest plantings and canning operations will be of sweet corn with some lima beans and tomatoes. Several canners have eliminated peas for the year.

The office stressed the fact that the needed labor supply seems adequate for the planting and summer season.

Indian Lawyers Oppose Jury Evils

MADURA, India—(AP)—The lawyers conference of Madras province, one of the most reputable legal organizations in India, has appealed for abolition of the jury system on the grounds that the evils it leads to "are much greater than the benefits."

Numerous publications have claimed that the jury system, brought in by the British, was not suited to the Indian mentality. Most commentators have asserted that the opportunity for "fixing" a jury was much greater than "fixing" a judge, and that juries in India are more inclined to be biased toward friends and neighbors.

2,000 Meter Nickels Make Jackpot for Cops

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Motorists are giving the District of Columbia government more than $100 each week-end.

They don't have to put a nickel in parking meters on Saturday or Sunday. The police department emptied the meters on a Friday night, checked them again early Monday morning and found more than 2,000 nickels.

Splurging with Oil Wealth Toned Down by Profit Cut

By HAL BOYLE
OKLAHOMA CITY, —(AP)—Oklahomans love to recall the exploits of the oil-rich Indian.

"He used to buy a bright yellow high-powered motor car," they say. "On Saturday nights he would get drunk and crash into a bridge abutment. Monday morning he would buy another brand new car, explaining to the salesman: 'Bridge no get out of my way.'"

"He used to wreck three or four cars a month."

Just who this Indian was nobody seems to remember, but he is a symbol of the fabulous spending of an era that is dead, the early days of the oil industry when the parched acres on which a patched-pants farmer had scratched out a miserable living suddenly made him wealthy overnight.

Men who had to wear borrowed cardboard to cover the holes in their shoes found themselves in a position to buy $100,000 homes. And they did.

The oil strike in Osage County in the 1920's made the Osage Indian tribe there the richest people on earth on a per capita basis—until the gadget salesman moved in to part the unwary from their money.

"This country used to be a gold mine for broken down painters from the east and antique dealers," said one old resident.

Newly rich farmers hitherto insensible to the joys of indoor plumbing spent vast amounts on Persian rugs and foreign tapestries to decorate their lavish homes.

The only trouble is that oil wells eventually have a habit of playing out. That shut off the source of income. Many a splurger had to leave town "scratching a broke backside"—as they say in forthright Oklahoma.

Again big money is being spent fast and loose trying to locate new oil fields. But the farmers who own the land are conservative and wiser. They aren't trying now to build stone castles on prospective paper profits.

The drillers themselves are a different caliber too. In the old days they used to pour gasoline down the creek as a wasteful by-product of kerosene, the fuel used in lamps. Nobody wanted gasoline because it was too explosive for home illumination and the market of the motor car hadn't been developed.

Natural gas then hissed unwanted into the open air.

"Now oil producers try to conserve every pound of energy, every foot of gas, and every barrel of oil," said one old timer. That is a result of conservation measures initiated for the first time on a state-wide basis by Oklahoma.

Formerly a producer paid for the cost of digging a well within a month of the time it spouted oil. He got only perhaps twenty-five percent of the oil wealth available through slapdash methods of production. Now thousands of cheap "stripper" wells are keeping communities alive by bringing up only one to four barrels of oil each daily.

Four Fayette Countians to Get Diplomas

Four Fayette County men and women will be among the 1,405 who will receive diplomas at the June graduation exercises at Ohio State University Friday, when Bishop Michael J. Ready of the Columbus diocese, will deliver a commencement address.

William R. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott of Bloomingburg, who is married and living in Columbus, will receive a degree of doctor of philosophy. Following his graduation, Scott will teach summer classes at the university. In the fall, he will begin his studies in mathematics at the university under a fellowship.

Scott received his bachelor of arts in 1940, his master of arts in 1941 at the university. He spent three and a half years in the coast artillery at Fort Monroe. He graduated from Bloomingburg High School in 1936.

Lois Cavine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Cavine, will receive a degree of bachelor of science in social administration from the college of commerce and administration. Following her graduation, Miss Cavine will take a post with the YWCA in North Kansas City, Missouri.

Lois Creamer, of Milledgeville, will receive a degree of bachelor of science in education. Charles Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Rhoads, will receive a degree of bachelor of science in business administration.

Fugitive Gets 3 Counts After Five Day Freedom

COLUMBUS, June 6—(AP)—James Allen Westlake's few days of freedom from the Mansfield Reformatory may cost him plenty, based on latest developments in the career of the 19-year-old Newark youth. He was bound over to the Franklin County grand jury here yesterday under $20,000 bond on two armed robbery charges while he was charged with kidnapping at Connersville, Ind. All charges arose while he was at large for five days, after escaping with five other Mansfield inmates.

Softball Meeting Shifted To City Hall for Tonight As Doubleheader Postponed

This is just an encore of an old story, but with a few embellishments.

The double feature softball program scheduled for Friday night has had to be postponed because of the early morning deluge which left the Wilson Field diamond a puddle dotted expanse of mud and the outfield wet and spongy.

The first game was to have been a playoff of the Universal-DPA game postponed from Monday and the second was to have brought together the hot Hughey Legion team and an All Star aggregation from New Holland.

The wash-out of the double bill resulted in a transfer of the meeting of sponsors and managers of the City League and Grange League from the field to the City Hall.

Described as "very important" by Fred Pierson, the city recreation director, the meeting was called for 8 P. M. The principal topic to come up for discussion, Pierson said, was that of replacing the Washington Candy Co. team which withdrew from the City League unexpectedly Thursday morning, the day it was scheduled to meet the veterans of the Lawson Legion Post.

Pierson admitted that the New Holland All Stars were being considered for the vacancy—if they want it. He also admitted that a representative of the New Holland loop probably would be asked to attend.

A plan for working Grange League games into the schedule so they can be completed without undue delay also is to be taken up, Pierson said.

9-Run Rally Wins For Morton Team

The Morton Show Case Co. boys opened their City Softball League season with a 12 to 8 victory over the Armbrust Building Supply outfit in the first game of a double bill at Wilson Field Thursday night.

The nightcap, the Forest Shade Grangers nosed out the Grangers from Good Hope, 7 to 6. Errors were the undoing of the Armbrust team, as the Mortons took advantage of their eight misuses to convert 13 hits into 12 runs.

A 9-run spurge in the fifth inning put the game on ice for the Mortons. With the exception of that one fat frame, Petty and Hoffmann, on the mound for the Armbrusters, were never in ser-

Reds Take Two Games from Phils; Dodgers Move into First Place

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)
Freshman Harry Taylor, whose third straight pitching victory coincided with Brooklyn's arrival in first place, is hailed in Flatbush as the man who could pitch the Dodgers to the National League pennant.

Beaten in his first big league start at Cincinnati, May 13, Taylor did time in the bullpen, relieving five times before Manager Bert Shotton gave him another starting chance.

Yesterday Taylor turned in his best effort, a two-hit, 3-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

The win booster, the Brooks into the lead because the Giants and the Chicago Cubs, who had been tied for first place, split a doubleheader at the polo grounds.

After Paul Erickson of the Cubs had tamed the giants with three hits in a 5-1 opening game, Mel Ott's gang slashed away at three Chicago throwers for an eighth inning to even matters with a 9-3 decision.

Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell ran his victory total to seven by shutting out the Phillies, 5-0, with six hits, the Reds flattening Ken Raffenberg with a five-run first inning. Harry Gumbert's fine relief pitching enabled the Reds to take the second game, 6-3, for a clean sweep of the doubleheader in which Grady Hatton collected a total of six hits. Cincy hopped into fifth place on the day's work. Marty Marion's homer with two on in the ninth enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to pull out a 5-3 decision over Boston's Johnny Sain.

The New York Yankees crushed the American League leading Detroit Tigers, 7-0, on Spud Chandler's three-hit work. Three out of four over the Tigers left the Yanks only one game behind the Bengals.

Jessie Flares' pitched a three-hitter for the Philadelphia's A's to win 5-2 over Chicago's Edgar Smith. Early Wynn of Washington shut out Cleveland, 3-0, with six hits in a game marred by an injury to Manager Lou Boudreau of the tribe. Boston and St. Louis were not scheduled.

ious trouble.

K. Self not only held the Armbrust batters to nine hits, but helped win his own game with a couple of solid hits.

The Grange League game was a nip and tuck battle throughout the five innings.

With the score knotted at 4-4 at the end of the fourth inning, the boys from New Martinsburg put across three tallies to lead that looked safe enough until the Good Hope crew had their turn. They got two runs across, but were nipped before they could take the game.

Turtle Derby Won By 10 to 1 Shot

BALTIMORE, June 6—(AP)—A hard-shelled character by the name of Uleers was hailed today as the 11th champion of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Turtle Derby.

Uleers, a ten-to-one shot on the blackboard "pari-mutuels," out-raced 153 other refugees from a soup pot yesterday in four heats of the event's tumult, secretary of the Hopkins Turf and Turtle Club, using an alarm clock, timed Uleers in 54 seconds over the 38-foot course, which he said was "excellent" time for a slow, dry track.

H. W. Emswiler, state high school commissioner, said the state had about 3,000 officials and that they were "not too well distributed," the majority being in the northeastern section.

Emswiler said the rules study groups would be valuable because "some of the officials know the rules, but don't know just how to apply some of 'em."

The commissioner said the state has at least 25 local groups of officials, and that in some cases they had practically set up a "closed shop" and refused to work with officials from outside their own association.

Other associations, Emswiler said, have set the fees for which their members might work. "And that is a little out of line," the commissioner said, "for what might be a fair price for one school might be absolutely unfair for another in the same city."

The average fee in Ohio for officials, Emswiler estimated, is $15 for football and $12.50 for basketball—with all officials in any game receiving the same amount.

Sports Roundup

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, June 6—It's beginning to look as if Ohio's high school basketball teachers are about as interested in their newly-formed coaches association as most folks are in the fine print on a contract.

For years the cage mentors squawked for a separate organization of their own, such as the football and track coaches have. They finally got it in late March, at the time of the state tournament.

But, with 1161 schools boasting basketball teams, all with a head coach and many with assistants, only 163 have joined the new association. That figures out at one head coach of each seven, hardly enough to back up any suggestions to be made to the state high school association on how the tournaments should be run.

While the basketball coaches are giving their group the "absent" treatment, the state's football and basketball officials are moving to straighten out a lot of matters.

For years, all that was required to officiate high school games in Ohio was a certificate from the state association—and it could be renewed year after year upon the payment of $2 regardless of whether the official handled any games or attended rules discussion meetings.

But now the officials are attempting to clean out the dead-wood and any inefficient players—all from their ranks.

Under the new set-up, requested by state association officials and adopted recently by several district organizations, there will be three membership classifications.

The lowest, known as "affiliate," goes to all applicants who pass a rigid, up-to-date written examination. After the official attains, and maintains, a schedule of five games a year, and attends at least four rules-study sessions of the local association each season in each sport, he moves up to an "associate" member.

After his schedule reaches 10 games per year, half of them in class A or equivalent, the "associate" becomes an "active" member—but he still has to attend the four study sessions each year, and pass a written examination annually.

H. W. Emswiler, state high school commissioner, said the state had about 3,000 officials and that they were "not too well distributed," the majority being in the northeastern section.

Emswiler said the rules study groups would be valuable because "some of the officials know the rules, but don't know just how to apply some of 'em."

The commissioner said the state has at least 25 local groups of officials, and that in some cases they had practically set up a "closed shop" and refused to work with officials from outside their own association.

Eagles To Meet Unbeaten Asheville And Lancaster To Play at Jeff

The Washington C. H. Eagles have a chance to go into a tie for the lead of the SCO League Sunday afternoon when they meet the unbeaten top team at Asheville Sunday afternoon—if the weather permits.
 Meanwhile, Fayette County baseball fans will have their sport at Jeffersonville where the Cubs are scheduled to take on Grove City's representative in the semi-pro circuit.
 For the other two league games, Lancaster's Glassmen are slated to go to Greenfield to tie Jamestown in a reversal of the original schedule, and Chillicothe's Meads are to go to Greenfield to tangle with the Athletics.
 Jamestown's team was to have played at Lancaster, but by mutual agreement the game was shifted to Jamestown because of the crowds and concentration of interest in the filming of a horse race movie—Green Grass of Wyoming—at the Fairground there.
 Here is the Sunday schedule:
 Washington C. H. at Asheville
 Grove City at Jeffersonville
 Chillicothe at Greenfield
 Lancaster at Jamestown
 Here is how the teams stand now:

Team	W	L	PCT
Asheville	4	0	1.000
Lancaster	3	1	.750
Washington	3	1	.750
Chillicothe	3	2	.600
Jeffville	2	3	.400
Jamestown	1	3	.250
Grove City	1	4	.200
Greenfield	1	4	.200

EPSON DOWNS, England, June 6—(AP)—Britain's bookies were hedging hurriedly today against a strong possibility that the odds-on favorite Tudor Minstrel would win tomorrow's Epsom Derby and so end a disastrous derby week for the betting boys.
 With the French filly Improbance taking yesterday's running of the 165th Oaks Stakes at 7 to 4, price, the bookies have shelled out on 12 winning Epsom favorites in the 18 races run since the meeting opened Tuesday.
 Fifteen probable starters remained in tomorrow's classic, scheduled to go at 3 P. M. (8 A. M. EST).

Insanity Will Be Defense of Cecil Yankey

Greenfield Man Will Go On Trial Monday In Hillsboro

Although Cecil Yankey, 39, was sent to the state institution for the criminal insane at Lima, for examination, and reported to be sane, his attorneys have announced that when his trial opens Monday for the first degree murder of Leroy Woodland, 74, in Greenfield, March 19, the defense will state insanity.

The trial will be held before Judge George W. McDowell and a jury in the Highland County Common Pleas Court.

Attorney Harley Pulse is the court-appointed counsel for Yankey, who is known to many Fayette Countyans.

So far Prosecutor Eugene Hahne has issued a call for 21 state witnesses. Attorney Pulse has not summoned any defense witnesses.

State's witnesses subpoenaed are:

Dr. Albert Borreson, Albert Struve, Dr. W. B. Hoyt, of Hillsboro, county coroner; Mrs. Dwight Smith, daughter of Leroy Woodland; Dwight Smith, her husband; Orville Woodland, a son of Woodland; Charles Watts; Mabel Watts, who was living with Yankey in Woodland's home and who will be one of the state's principal witnesses.

H. E. Waddell; Thomas Cox; George Willis; Sheriff F. F. Gustin of Hillsboro; Mayor W. F. Woodmansee; Miss Ada Stultz.

Fred Dangler, Ohio State Bureau of Criminal Identification, London Prison Farm; Lloyd Shupe, Columbus police department chemist; James Pritchett, investigator of the Cal Crim Agency, Cincinnati; Roy Sheeley, OSBCI, London; Pat Shrock; Miss Ruth Carpenter of Hillsboro, and Deputy Sheriff Howard Dunsen of Hillsboro.

Mrs. Helen Pulse Roades of Lynchburg will assist her father in defending Yankey.

Robert Ziegler, of the staff of Carson Hoy, Cincinnati, Hamilton county prosecutor, will take part in the prosecution.

Woodland was beaten to death in his home next to where Yankey was living and his money was stolen.

Board Members Organize Monday

The six new Chamber of Commerce directors and the eight directors remaining in office will meet Monday night in the chamber offices to elect officers for the coming year.

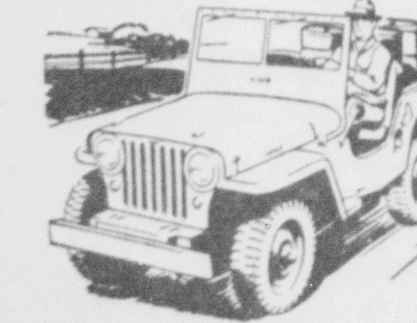

The new directors are Floyd Mitchell, Ora Middleton, Charles Hire, Arch Newberry, Don Gibson and O. W. Landrum. Those retaining their directorships are Gilbert Crouse, Howard Wright, Robert Terhune, Ray Brandenburg, Carroll Halliday, Harold McCord, Frank Jean and Belford Carpenter.

Smarteens Club Tours City Friday

Accompanied by their adviser, Mrs. Roscoe Shipley, the Smarteens 4-H Club of New Holland, engaged in sewing projects, made a tour of the stores of Washington C. H., Friday, and also visited the Record Herald Office.

The club is engaged in making sports clothing, and the officers and other members are: Marion Fulton, president; Marilyn Fulton, vice-president; Pauline Sheridan, secretary; Patsie Speakman, treasurer; Ann Vincent, news reporter; Phyllis Helsel, recreation leader; Martha Sheridan, Evelyn Campbell, Mary Fannin and Helen Shadley.

County Courts

DIVORCE GRANTED
Judge H. M. Rankin has granted a divorce to Doris Custer from Walter Custer, and given her custody of their five minor children. Under terms of the decree the defendant is to pay $30 weekly for support of the children and pay $600 in cash to the plaintiff before September 1. In the meantime the plaintiff is to have exclusive use of defendant's Buick automobile until the amount is paid.

DIVORCE HEARING
Hearing of the divorce action of Helen M. Dailey against William Dailey was under way before Judge H. M. Rankin, Friday, with Charles S. Hire representing the plaintiff and W. S. Paxson for the defendant.

The plaintiff's witnesses included Katherine Emrick, Anna Fulton, Anna Sorenson, Harold Sorenson and William Dailey.

Defense witnesses summoned include Joseph Shaw, Eloise Shaw, Wendell Emrick, Mrs. Mary Cooper, Aaron Dailey, Katherine Dailey, Howard Graham, Herbert Mitchell and Harold Newman.

Lighting Survey Made of Schools

Results of the recent survey of lighting conditions in the county schools will probably be presented to county school board members at a meeting to be held soon with the Dayton Power and Light Company, W. J. Hilty, county superintendent said.

The Dayton Power and Light Company conducted this survey through the 15 county schools during April under the sponsorship of the County Board of Health. They have recently completed tabulating their findings and are ready to make recommendations to the school boards, said Hilty.

Hilty pointed out that a similar lighting survey was conducted by the company four or five years ago under the sponsorship of the county board of education.

Poet's Corner

OUR GLORIOUS BANNER
Like great red rose of dawn, our flag,
Gorgeous in colors bright,
Was given to lead a world, oppressed,
From bondage into light.

Her crimson stripes speak strong and clear
Telling how brave men died,
How patriots have shed their blood
On fields where hearts were tried.

The bars of white like morning light
Speak of men true and pure:
Of principles, rock-ribbed and strong
Which through all storms endure.

Her stars shine bright through darkest night
Inspiring hope to all:
They shine undimmed throughout the world
Where men hear freedom's call.

O "Glorious Flag" so love of men
Float over land and sea,
Symbol of our great power and might
Of truth and liberty.

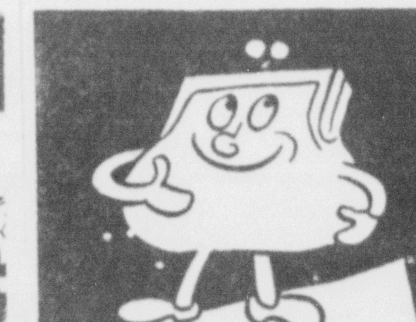

Thy sheltering folds protect our homes
Give refuge on all shores:
Protect our ships on sea, in sky,
Where mercy, men implore.

Symbol of justice for all men,
Freedom of all mankind,
Breathing goodwill to lands afar
Guiding the poor and blind.

O "Glorious Banner" of the free
Wave on for truth and right:
O prayers, our tears, are all with thee
Till freedom scatters night.

Influence of Radio Is Theme For Discussion

Paint Farm Bureau Council Session Is Interesting

The influence of the radio on the American way of life was discussed by the members of the Paint Farm Bureau Council No. 3 at a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eben L. Thomas.

Following the outline in the advisory guide, the discussion of radio covered all aspects of the question. The group decided that the radio has had a greater influence on public thinking in the past few years than has the newspaper, although, they pointed out, the printing press had ushered in democracy.

They said that radio and other devices such as the telephone and telegraph had helped ideas flow almost instantaneously. Farm people can make better use of radio and the other devices to improve their way of life, the group decided.

In a few weeks, the farm radio station, WRFD, will open a station on a 260 acre plot of ground at Worthington. This will be the farmer's own station, it was pointed out, and farm people should keep up with the special programs as weather forecasts, cooking broadcasts, book reviews and news programs. In order to take full advantage of them, the farmer should keep his radio in good repair, the group decided.

The committee for the council's fair exhibit was appointed and will be Elmer Simerl and Eben Thomas. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Green on Wednesday, July 2.

Must Reinstate Life Insurance

Less than two months remain for Fayette County veterans to reinstate their National Service Life Insurance, said Richard K. Huntley, regional VA insurance officer, as he pointed out that the deadline is August 1.

Veterans here may visit the Veterans' Service Center in Memorial Hall here where they may talk to a VA contact officer, who makes regular visits. Huntley said that this officer will give expert assistance and advice regarding service life insurance.

Reinstatement of lapsed insurance before the deadline may be made by a payment of two monthly premiums and stating that he is in as good health now as he was at the time of the lapse.

Huntley pointed out that NSLI now has such features as lump sum settlement, unrestricted choice of beneficiaries and a wide selection of permanent plans of insurance.

Man Suffers Gunshot Wound

Kendall Harper Is Hospitalized

Kendall Harper, residing on the Columbus Highway some five miles northeast of Washington C. H., was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, early Thursday night as result of a severe gunshot wound in his forehead, inflicted shortly after the noon hour Thursday, when a shot gun he was handling was accidentally discharged as he was replacing the weapon in a corner of a room.

A large section of his scalp was torn loose, starting over the right eye.

He was given home attention at first, and later brought to Dr. Marvin Rozmann's office, where he was cared for and then removed to Mt. Carmel Hospital, in the Klever ambulance.

Indications are that he also sustained a small fracture of the skull as result of the blast.

Snappy Stitches Conduct Contests

The Snappy Stitches 4-H Club met at the home of Norma Theobald Thursday.

During the meeting, the girls held several contests which were won by Patty Patton and Betty Lansing. The meeting was opened as the girls repeated the 4-H pledge and sang "America the Beautiful."

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Roberta Theobald on Thursday, June 12.

Two Injured Men Show Improvement

Charles H. Teter, and Cleve Eyre, of Leesburg, critically injured on the New Martinsburg Road Wednesday morning, when W. H. Pushee was almost instantly killed when the Pushee car collided with a livestock truck, are improving slowly at Mt. Carmel Hospital, according to late reports.

Both men had been unconscious part of the time since entering the hospital, as both suffered fractured skulls. Mr. Pushee sustained a fractured skull and crushed chest, and died within a few minutes after the accident.

ADEQUATE WIRING PLANS say "Yes" TO CONVENIENCE COMFORT and BEAUTY

Any wiring plan that fails to provide enough circuits to admit electrical current needed for modern appliances and lighting detracts from the convenience of the home. A skimpy wiring plan with no allowance for future additions to electrical equipment now owned says "NO!" to new comforts, new beauty, new livability in the years to come. Adequate Wiring is the answer.

Adequate Wiring does away with overloading of circuits, dimming of lights when appliances are connected, or disconnecting one appliance or lamp to permit use of another.

Let your architect, builder and electrical contractor help you plan for Adequate Wiring—plans that will say "YES!" to every addition to the charm and comfort of your new or remodeled home.

Reminder for home planners

A Certified Electrical Home means simply this:
For every 500 square feet of floor area there should be a minimum of one electrical circuit.
